

Brief Academic CV

Prof. Mohamed Habashy Hussein Mohamed

Current Position:

Professor of Statistics and Psychometrics, Department of Educational Psychology, Faculty of Education, Alexandria University, Egypt

Email: hussein1262@hotmail.com

Languages: Arabic — Native; English — Fluent in speaking and writing

Academic Qualifications

- Ph.D. in Philosophy of Education, Department of Educational Psychology, Faculty of Education, University of Georgia, USA
 - M.Ed. in Educational Psychology, Faculty of Education, Alexandria University — Excellent grade
 - Special Diploma in Education, Faculty of Education, Alexandria University — Very Good grade
 - B.Sc. in Science and Education — Mathematics, Faculty of Education, Alexandria University, 1984 — Excellent with Honors
-

Academic and Administrative Experience

Prof. Hussein has extensive academic and administrative experience in educational psychology, psychometrics, statistics, assessment, and research methodology. His professional appointments include:

- Professor of Educational Psychology, Faculty of Education, Alexandria University, from December 2012 to present
- Chair, Department of Educational Psychology, Faculty of Education, Alexandria University, 2015–2017
- Acting Vice Dean for Graduate Studies and Research, Faculty of Education, Alexandria University, 2013–2014

- Associate Professor of Educational Psychology, Alexandria University and Jazan University, 2007–2012
 - Assistant Professor / Lecturer, Faculty of Education, Alexandria University, 2001–2007
 - Consultant, Academic Computer Center, Department of Educational Psychology, University of Georgia, USA, 1998–2001
 - Assistant Lecturer and Demonstrator, Department of Educational Psychology, Faculty of Education, Alexandria University, 1985–2001
-

Research Interests and Areas of Expertise

Prof. Hussein's academic work focuses on:

- Psychometrics and educational measurement
 - Item Response Theory
 - Classical Test Theory
 - Test construction and item banking
 - Measurement invariance
 - Factor analysis and structural modeling
 - Educational and psychological statistics
 - Research methodology
 - Social, emotional, and personality assessment
 - E-learning and technology-supported assessment
-

Selected Publications

English Publications

- Hussein, M. H., & Abdel-Khalek, A. M. (2021). Developing a Revised Version of the Arabic Big Five Personality Inventory Using Item Response Theory. Mankind Quarterly, 62(2), 327–343
- Hussein, M. H. (2013). The social and emotional skills of bullies, victims, and bully-victims of Egyptian primary school children. International Journal of Psychology, 48(5), 910–921

- Hussein, M. H. (2010). The Peer Interaction in Primary School Questionnaire: Testing measurement equivalence and latent mean differences in bullying between gender in Egypt, Saudi Arabia and the USA. Social Psychology of Education, 13(1), 77–110
- Huberty, C. J., & Hussein, M. H. (2003). Some problems in reporting use of discriminant analysis. The Journal of Experimental Education, 71(3), 177–191
- Hussein, M. H. (2002). Missing Data Treatments in Multiple Linear Regression: A Monte Carlo Comparison of Four Imputation Methods. Journal of the Egyptian Statistical Association, 370–391

Selected Arabic Publications

- Hussein, M. H. (2022). Scaling mixed-format tests using Item Response Theory: A comparison between unidimensional and multidimensional models. Egyptian Journal of Psychological Studies
- Hussein, M. H., & Abdel-Khalek, A. M. (2019). Psychometric properties of the Arabic Big Five Personality Inventory within the framework of Item Response Theory. Egyptian Journal of Psychological Studies
- Hussein, M. H. (2019). Measurement equivalence/invariance in psychological and educational research: A comparison between multi-group confirmatory factor analysis and Item Response Theory. Egyptian Journal of Psychological Studies
- Hussein, M. H. (2017). Inferential Statistics Using SPSS, SAS, and R. Alexandria: Dar Al-Wafaa for Printing and Publishing

Conference Participation

Prof. Hussein has presented research papers at major international conferences, including:

- The Annual Meeting of the American Educational Research Association, Chicago, USA, 2003
 - The APA Annual Convention, San Francisco, USA, 2001
 - The Society for Multivariate Analysis in the Behavioral Sciences, London, UK, 2000
 - The Southeast SAS User Group Conference, Charlotte, North Carolina, USA, 2000
 - The Georgia Educational Research Association Annual Meeting, Georgia, USA, 1999
-

Postgraduate Supervision and Examination

Prof. Hussein has supervised and examined numerous master's and doctoral theses in educational psychology, mental health, psychometrics, curriculum and instruction, creativity, emotional intelligence, self-efficacy, cognitive flexibility, resilience, learning difficulties, and assessment. His supervision and examination activities include work at Alexandria University, King Khalid University, Beirut Arab University, Beni Suef University, Suez Canal University, and Taibah University

Professional Memberships

- Member, Advisory Committee, Journal of Educational Sciences, Faculty of Education, Qena
 - Member, American Educational Research Association, since August 2001
 - Member, Egyptian Association for Psychological Studies, since July 2001
 - Member, Egyptian Association of Psychologists, since 2001
-

Technical and Statistical Skills

Prof. Hussein has advanced expertise in statistical, psychometric, and programming tools, including:

- Statistical packages: SPSS, SAS, R, MATLAB
 - Psychometric and measurement software: LISREL, MPLUS, AMOS, WINSTEPS, BILOG, MULTILOG, OPLEM
 - Programming languages: Visual Basic, C++, HTML, JavaScript, Fortran 90
-

Awards and Recognition

- Gulf Cooperation Council Award for designing electronic courses, supervised by the University of Bahrain, April 2011
- Best Research Award in Physiological Psychology from the Egyptian Association for Psychological Studies, January 2010
- King Khalid University Award for e-learning and blended learning course delivery

- Certificates of appreciation for contributions to e-learning, student activities, academic training, and assessment development
-

Training and Academic Development Activities

Prof. Hussein has delivered numerous training workshops and academic development programs in Egypt and Saudi Arabia, particularly in:

- Question bank construction
- Modern measurement methods
- Objective and essay test writing
- Achievement test construction
- SPSS applications
- Classical and modern test theories
- Academic assessment and evaluation
- E-learning, blended learning, Blackboard, Moodle, and virtual classroom systems

He has also developed electronic instructional materials and produced educational videos on educational statistics, SPSS, psychological readings in English, and e-learning systems

Brief Academic Profile

Prof. Mohamed Habashy Hussein Mohamed is a Professor of Statistics and Psychometrics at the Department of Educational Psychology, Faculty of Education, Alexandria University. He has a distinguished academic career in educational psychology, psychological measurement, test construction, Item Response Theory, educational statistics, and research methodology. He has held several academic and administrative positions, including Chair of the Department of Educational Psychology and Acting Vice Dean for Graduate Studies and Research at Alexandria University. His scholarly contributions include numerous Arabic and English publications, conference papers, postgraduate supervision, thesis examination, research projects, and professional training programs in assessment, statistics, and e-learning